get complete pdf at learnexams.com

WGU D236 Pre-Assessment Pathophysiology Exam (New 2023/ 2024 Update) Real Questions and Verified Answers| Grade A

QUESTION

Which disease can vitamin B12 deficiency be attributed to?

1. Alcoholism Answer:)
2. Diabetes
3. Hypertension
4. Obesity

QUESTION

What are two possible causes for peripheral neuropathy (Choose 2)?

1. Vitamin B12 deficiency Answer:)
2. Lead poisoning Answer:)
3. Brain attack
4. Cardiac arrest

learnexams

QUESTION

A patient record shows that an ear exam revealed growth of new bone that is fixed. The patient has permanent hearing loss. What condition does this describe?

1. Osteosclerosis Answer:)
2. Otitis Media
3. External otitis
4. Meniere disease

QUESTION

LEARNEXAMS.COM

get complete pdf at learnexams.com

Which type of heart condition may be caused by metastasized neoplasms, rheumatic fever, uremia, or hypothyroidism?

1. Pericarditis Answer:)
2. Endocarditis
3. Mitral Stenosis
4. Myocarditis

QUESTION

A bone marrow biopsy result shows fatty tissue with megakaryocyte and large bone marrow cells with multiple nuclei. This patient is placed on a bone marrow recipient list. Which condition does this describe?

1. Aplastic anemia Answer:)
2. Pernicious anemia
3. Iron-deficiency anemia
4. Acute blood-loss anemia

QUESTION

Which two conditions or symptoms may lead to a diagnosis of COPD (choose 2)?

learnexams

1. Legionnaires' Disease
2. Berylliosis
3. Chronic asthma Answer:)
4. Bronchiectasis Answer:)

QUESTION

A 38-year-old patient with a history of long-term alcohol and tobacco abuse has symptoms of ascites, leg edema, and vomiting. A diagnostic workup includes ALT, AST assays, and US of the liver. Which condition is described?

1. Pancreatitis
2. Cirrhosis Answer:)
3. Hemorrhoids
4. Diverticulosis

LEARNEXAMS.COM

get complete pdf at learnexams.com

QUESTION

A patient's records indicate a diagnosis of a staphylococcal skin infection, which caused a boil to develop on the patient's buttock region. Symptoms include red, swollen skin with pus. Which additional symptom can appear in the affected area?

1. Itchiness
2. Scaliness
3. Warm to touch Answer:)
4. Scabs

QUESTION

A patient presents with anemia, fever, and malaise due to destruction of red blood cells. Which infections disease does this describe?

1. H1N1 Flu
2. Lyme Disease
3. West Nile Virus
4. Malaria Answer:)

learnexams

QUESTION

A patient's record shows a diagnosis of H1N1 flu. Which two symptoms may be present in this chart entry?

1. Sore Throat Answer:)
2. Hiccups
3. Abdominal cramps
4. Nasal Congestion Answer:)
5. night sweats

QUESTION

A patient presented with swelling of the femur. MRI results indicated enlargement and thickening of the bone. The urinalysis showed hydroxyproline. The patient was prescribed NSAIDs and physical therapy, and surgery was recommended. Which disease does this describe?

LEARNEXAMS.COM